The highly anticipated third book in the critically acclaimed and bestselling series takes the art of being wimpy to a whole new level. Let ' s face it: Greg Heffley will never change his wimpy ways. Somebody just needs to explain that to Greg ' s father. You see, Frank Heffley actually thinks he can get his son to toughen up, and he enlists Greg in organized sports and other “ manly † ? endeavors. Of course, Greg is able to easily sidestep his father ' s efforts to change him. But when Greg ' s dad threatens to send him to military academy, Greg realizes he has to shape up . . . or get shipped out. Greg and his family and friends, who make the Diary of a Wimpy Kid books a must-read for middle school readers, are back and at their best in this hilarious new installment of the series, which is sure to please current fans while attracting new ones. Publishers Weekly-1/19/2009: The third book in this genre-busting series is certain to enlarge Kinney ' s presence on the bestseller lists, where the previous titles have taken up residence for the past two years. Kinney ' s spot-on humor and winning formula of deadpan text set against cartoons are back in full force. This time, Greg starts off on New Year ' s Day (he resolves to “ help other people improve, † ? telling his mother, “ I think you should work on chewing your potato chips more quietly † ?) and ends with summer vacation. As he fends off his father ' s attempts to make him more of a man (the threat of military school looms), Greg ' s hapless adventures include handing out anonymous valentines expressing his true feelings (“ Dear James, You smell † ?), attempting to impress his classmate Holly and single-handedly wrecking his soccer team ' s perfect season. Kinney allows himself some insider humor as well, with Greg noting the “ racket † ? children ' s book authors have going. “ All you have to do is make up a character with a snappy name, and then make sure the character learns a lesson at the end of the book. † ? Greg, self-centered as ever, may be the exception proving that rule. Ages 8 † “ 12. (Jan.) F&P level: T

Middle-schooler Greg Heffley nimbly sidesteps his father's attempts to change Greg's wimpy ways until his father threatens to send him to military school

Greg Heffley will never change his wimpy ways... somebody just better tell Greg's dad that. Frank Heffley actually thinks he can get his son to toughen up and he enlists Greg in organised sports and other 'manly' endeavours. Thus far, Greg manages to side-step his father's efforts, then comes the threat of military school and Greg realises, he has to shape up or ship out!

Middle-schooler Greg Heffley nimbly sidesteps his father's attempts to change Greg's wimpy ways until his father threatens to send him to military school.

Greg records his sixth grade experiences in a middle school where he and his best friend, Rowley, undersized weaklings amid boys who need to shave twice daily, hope just to survive, but when Rowley grows more popular, Greg must take drastic measures to save their friendship.

Collects the diaries of Greg Heffley as he faces the challenges of middle school, deals with his annoying older brother Rodrick, and is threatened with military school.

"I encourage everyone to read this book." --Dr. Jane Goodall There's no doubt about it--plastic is in almost everything. From our phones and computers to our toys and utensils, plastic is everywhere. But the amount of plastic we throw away is hurting the health of our planet. With The Last Straw: Kids vs. Plastics, readers will be fascinated as they learn about the growing plastic problem and meet just a few of the young activists who are standing up and speaking out for change. You'll hear about the "Be Straw Free" campaign, started by nine-year-old Milo Cress. You'll discover how scientists are using jellyfish snot and munching, crunching caterpillars to break down plastic pollution faster. You'll meet Xóchitl Guadalupe Cruz López, the eight-year-old girl turning old plastic bottles into solar heaters. And there are many more incredible kids here, not much older than our readers, who will inspire us all to change the way we think about plastic! With an introduction from Milo Cress and bright, colorful illustrations from Christiane Engel, this collection of brilliant, lyrical nonfiction poems by award-winning author Susan Hood highlights the threat of plastic and the kids who are fighting for change to save our planet. Greg Heffley and his family are getting out of town. With the cold weather and the stress of the approaching holiday season, the Heffleys decide to escape to a tropical island resort for some much-needed rest and relaxation. A few days in paradise should do wonders for Greg and his frazzled family. But the Heffleys soon discover that paradise isn't everything it's cracked up to be. Sun poisoning, stomach troubles, and venomous critters all threaten to ruin the family's vacation. Can their trip be saved, or will this island getaway end in disaster?
